PENNSYLVANIA.—The Pittsburg "Post" on July 15 made the following statement concerning a matter which is creating much controversy at present in Pittsburg: "Five new and important railroad systems will have passenger and freight terminals in Pittsburg in a short time. Every one of them will come from the east, and through them the distance between Pittsburg and the seaboard will be reduced; so will the distance between Pittsburg and Buffalo, and in each case the new roads will be entirely independent and free from entanglements with existing roads in this territory. The financial organization has been completed through the floating of a bond issue of $55,000,000 jointly by E. H. Gay & Co., of Boston, and Fisk & Co., of New York, and official announcement of this fact will be forthcoming from Boston by Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. The newcomers to Pittsburg are: The Erie Railroad, main line from New York to Chicago; Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg, now entering by trackage terminals, but which will come on its own line, and extending from Pittsburg to Buffalo, N. Y.; the Pittsburg, Shawmut & Northern main line, from Pittsburg to Buffalo; the Buffalo & Susquehanna Railroad, main line, from Pittsburg to Buffalo and through central Pennsylvania oil fields; the Pittsburg, Binghamton & Eastern Railroad now building from Binghamton westward to Dubois, and with main line to be extended from Pittsburg to Albany, N. Y., where direct connection will be made to Boston. Mass. All these roads will enter Pittsburg, touch all of her great freight producing districts, establish a $3,000,000 union passenger terminal on a site already projected from encroachments and by a joint ownership of a single road with four tracks as main line less than 50 miles long. This joint road will be none other than the Pittsburg & Northeastern Railroad, which has been chartered and is surveyed and right-of-way practically protected from Hazelwood, northeast to South Bend, in Indiana County."

PENTWATER, MICH.—We are officially advised that surveys for locations of the Grand Rapids-Ludington Electric Ry. have been started. It is proposed to obtain power from one of several large rivers which will be crossed by this line.

CHICAGO, ILL.—We are officially advised that J. G. White & Co., 49 Exchange Pl., New York, have completed estimates and surveys for an important addition to the traction system centering in Chicago. It will be an electric railroad 70 miles long from South Bend, Ind., to the Illinois-Indiana state line in the city of Hammond, to be known as the Chicago, Lake Shore & South Bend Ry. It is reported that the road will be financed by the Transit Finance Co., of New York, and it is expected that the line will be completed by the Illinois Central from Hammond northwest into Kensington, there making connection with the Central tracks for a continuous route into Chicago. The Illinois Central is bound by traffic agreements not to build east of the state line, which accounts for the rather unusual construction conditions. From Hammond the new road will run eastward into the new United States Steel Corporation's city of Gary, crossing the Grand Calumet River just before entering the city. From Gary east to Dunne Park the electric line will practically parallel the tracks of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, crossing them as well as the tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad from the south to north at Miller. From Dunne Park to Michigan City the route of the electric road will lie between the tracks of the Michigan Central and the shore of Lake Michigan. The route from Michigan City is almost straight east to South Bend, a distance of about 30 miles. The tracks of the Lake Erie and Western Railroad and of the Pere Marquette will be crossed about a mile east of Michigan City. From New Carlisle into South Bend the electric road will be exactly parallel to the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern for a distance of 14 miles. It is said that a steamer service from Michigan City to Chicago will be run in connection with the new road, giving the residents in the district from Michigan City to South Bend, inclusive, a particularly quick and convenient route into Chicago. The road will be for both passenger and freight traffic, and that it will be thrown into direct competition with the steam roads in the district is at once apparent. Indeed the situation now obtaining on the south shore of Lake Erie between Cleveland and Toledo will be practically duplicated on the completion of the new road. It is not as yet determined whether the line will be single or double track. The construction will conform to the best interurban standard and track will be laid with 75-lb. rails. The specifications in the case of the single track line call for a width of 18 ft. on the fills and 21½ ft. in cuts, with side slopes 1½ to 1. All bridge structures, except the bridge over the Calumet River, will be of concrete or steel, and two trolley wires will be included in the overhead equipment. In case the single track road is decided upon, eight sidings, each 2,700 ft. long, will be provided. Specifications for double track road provide for a width of 31 ft. on the fills and 34 ft. in cuts. The conditions of grade and curvature will be very moderate over the entire line. On 80% of the road the grade will not exceed 1% and the usual maximum for overhead crossings will be 2%. At two points, however, the grade on these bridges may run to 5%. As approved, the total curvature for the line amounts to 1034°, divided between 59 curves, practically all within the city limits of the various towns en route.
